Integration Planning Teams Kick Off Next Phase

Yesterday, the integration teams met in Atlanta to kick off the next phase of integration planning. As I addressed the group during the morning meeting, the exceptional effort it will take to successfully integrate AGL Resources and Nicor was even more apparent. The audience in front of me has roughly doubled in size since I last spoke with them – a testament to the significant volume of work ahead of these teams in this next phase. The teams will spend this week welcoming new members and developing work plans for the next 12 weeks. And while team members will be in Atlanta for scheduled progress updates, you'll see many of them in offices around the company as they work together to create detailed designs of post-merger operating models and develop plans for successful implementation. A full list of the integration team members is available on the Merger Communications page of Planet.

Every employee has an important role in the integration process, whether serving on an integration team, continuing to focus on core responsibilities, or taking on new responsibilities to support an integration team member. The time commitment required of the integration team members is considerable, and it would not be possible without the support of colleagues to ensure the daily demands of the business are met and that we provide safe, reliable service to our customers.

If you have any questions about the integration planning process or any other aspect of the merger, I encourage you to talk with your manager, visit the Merger Communications page on Planet, or send your thoughts to merger@aglresources.com

Thank you for your continued support of the integration planning process.

Drew Evans
Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer
Chair, Merger Transition Committee

These forward-looking statements relate to, among other things, the successful integration of the companies. Forward-looking statements can generally be identified by the use of words such as “believe”, “anticipate”, “expect”, “estimate”, “intend”, “continue”, “plan”, “project”, “will”, “may”, “should”, “could”, “would”, “target”, “potential” and other similar expressions. In addition, any statements that refer to expectations, projections or other characterizations of future events or circumstances are forward-looking statements. Although certain of these statements set out herein are indicated above, all of the statements in this release that contain forward-looking statements are qualified by these cautionary statements. Although AGL Resources and Nicor believe that the expectations reflected in such forward-looking statements are reasonable, such statements involve risks and uncertainties, and undue reliance should not be placed on such statements. Certain material factors or assumptions are applied in making forward-looking statements, including, but not limited to, factors and assumptions regarding the items outlined above. Actual results may differ materially from those expressed or implied in such statements. Important factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from these expectations include, among other things, the following: the failure to receive, on a timely basis or otherwise, the required approvals by AGL Resources and Nicor stockholders and government or regulatory agencies (including the terms of such approvals); the risk that a condition to closing of the merger may not be satisfied; the possibility that the anticipated benefits and synergies from the proposed merger cannot be fully realized or may take longer to realize than expected; the possibility that costs or difficulties related to the integration of AGL Resources and Nicor operations will be greater than expected; the ability of the combined company to retain and hire key personnel and maintain relationships with customers, suppliers or other business partners; the impact of legislative, regulatory, competitive and technological changes; the risk that the credit ratings of the combined company may be different from what the companies expect; and other risk factors relating to the energy industry, as detailed from time to time in each of AGL Resources’ and Nicor’s reports filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”). There can be no assurance that the proposed merger will in fact be consummated.

Additional information about these factors and about the material factors or assumptions underlying such forward-looking statements may be found in the body of this release, as well as under Item 1.A. in each of AGL Resources’ and Nicor’s Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year December 31, 2010. AGL Resources and Nicor caution that the foregoing list of important factors that may affect future results is not exhaustive. When relying on forward-looking statements to make decisions with respect to AGL Resources and Nicor, investors and others should carefully consider the foregoing factors and other uncertainties and potential events. All subsequent written and oral forward-looking statements concerning the proposed transaction or other matters attributable to AGL Resources and Nicor or any other person acting on their behalf are expressly qualified in their entirety by the cautionary statements referenced above. The forward-looking statements contained herein speak only as of the date of this communication. Neither AGL Resources nor Nicor undertakes any obligation to update or revise any forward-looking statement, except as may be required by law.
