CONSOLIDATED STATEMENT OF RECOGNISED INCOME AND EXPENSE

The consolidated statement of recognised income and expense reflects all items of income and expense for the period, including items taken directly to equity. Movements in individual reserves are shown including amounts which relate to minority interests; the impact of such amounts is then reflected in the amount attributable to such interests. Movements in individual reserves are also shown on a pre-tax basis with any related tax recorded on the separate tax line.

The available for sale reserve reflects gains or losses arising from the change in fair value of available for sale financial assets except for items recorded in the income statement which are: impairment losses; gains or losses transferred to the income statement due to fair value hedge accounting; and foreign exchange gains or losses on monetary items such as debt securities. When an available for sale asset is impaired or derecognised, the cumulative gain or loss previously recognised in the available for sale reserve is transferred to the income statement. The transfer of net gains to the income statement, primarily on disposal of assets, was partially offset by the recognition of net unrealised gains from changes in fair value.

Cash flow hedging aims to minimise exposure to variability in cash flows that is attributable to a particular risk associated with a recognised asset or liability or a highly probable forecast transaction that could affect profit or loss. The portion of the gain or loss on the hedging instrument that is deemed to be an effective hedge is recognised in the cash flow hedging reserve. The gains and losses deferred in this reserve will be transferred to the income statement in the same period or periods during which the hedged item is recognised in the income statement. The movement in 2007 reflects the transfer of net losses to the income statement and the recognition of net unrealised gains from changes in the fair value of the hedging instruments.

Exchange differences arising on the net investments in foreign operations and effective hedges of net investments are recognised in the currency translation reserve and transferred to the income statement on the disposal of the net investment. The movement in 2007 primarily reflects the impact of changes in the value of the Euro on net investments partially offset by the impact of changes in the value of the US Dollar on net investments and other currency movements on net investments which are hedged on a post-tax basis. The Euro and US Dollar net investments are economically hedged through Euro-denominated and US Dollar-denominated preference share capital, which is not revalued for accounting purposes.
