» Waking Up on the Right Side in London

This April, we reminded morning commuters in London that while they're flying American, we'll make sure they always wake up on the right side—a pretty pleasant thought compared to mind the gap. Following a March TV advertising campaign, a second wave of digital, out-of-home and print placements launched in London featuring substantial commuter railway station takeovers, a taxi fleet of silverbirds and strategically-placed product advertising across select print titles. Check out photos of how we implemented the campaign across London in this photo gallery on new Jetnet.

» Flight Attendant Language Speaker Openings Now Extended through May 5 for External Applicants

Job postings for several flight attendant language speaker positions, including Japanese, Mandarin, Portuguese, Italian, German and Korean, have been extended and will now remain open for external candidates through May 5. We have already completed our first two flight attendant classes, with a variety of language speakers in each class. Thanks to your referral efforts, our first two classes included our goal number of Korean speakers to support the new DFW-Seoul, South Korea, route, which will begin in May. Please continue to encourage any qualified applicants you know to visit aacareers.com to learn more about current openings. We especially need your help identifying Chinese Mandarin and Japanese bilingual speaking applicants to apply. Applicants need to have a right to work in the U.S.

American Way* Named Best Publication at Maggie Awards

For the second consecutive year, American Way has been named Best Travel & In-Transit Consumer Publication at the Western Publishing Association's Maggie Awards. The Maggies, which this year were held on April 26 in Los Angeles, recognize excellence in publishing across both print and electronic platforms. This year, American Way stood out among more than 1,200 entries from 24 states.

iPads Help American Airlines Prevent Pilot Injuries

By eliminating the aches and pains of having to carry around 40 pounds of documentation, iPad tablets could be replacing aspirin tablets for American pilots. Speaking at TabTimes' Tablet Strategy conference, Patrick O'Keeffe, Vice President - Airline Operations Technology, said the company has reduced the single biggest source of pilot injuries, carrying those packs. O'Keeffe also said the company is able to save a million dollars' worth of fuel and stop printing all the page revisions. American is also issuing Samsung Galaxy Note tablets to its flight attendants, who also need access to documentation.

Japan Airlines to Resume 787 Dreamliner Nonstop Flights on June 1

Japan Airlines will resume daily Boston-Tokyo Narita service on the Boeing 787 Dreamliner aircraft on June 1. The aircraft returns to the skies after the U.S. FAA approved Boeing's lithium ion battery improvements. The oneworld carrier will also launch nonstop service between Tokyo and Helsinki, Finland, which was postponed in February, on July 1. Boeing 787 service will also restart from Tokyo to San Diego, Singapore and Beijing, China, on June 1, followed by flights to Delhi, India, on July 12. Dreamliner service to Moscow, Russia, and San Francisco commences on Sept. 1, then to Sydney, Australia, and Bangkok, Thailand, in December.

Los Angeles Approves $5 Billion Airport Modernization

The Los Angeles City Council approved a modernization and safety-enhancement plan for Los Angeles International Airport that is expected to cost nearly $5 billion, and will revamp and expand LAX's often cramped, 1960s-era facilities. The upgrades and changes will be paid for with airport revenue and long-term financing. The plan, which is still subject to environmental studies and could face court challenges, seeks to comply with repeated demands by the FAA to relocate the northernmost runway as a safety enhancement. LAX previously finished a similar runway-safety project on the south side of the airport. Construction isn't expected to start for roughly five years, and specifics of some of the improvements could change based on detailed environmental reviews.
