PART ONE FINANCIAL INFORMATION

ITEM 1 - FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

REPORT ON REVIEW BY INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM

To the Board of Directors

Force Protection, Inc. and Subsidiaries

We have reviewed the consolidated balance sheet of Force Protection, Inc., and its subsidiaries as of June 30, 2005, and the related consolidated statements of operations for the three-month and six-month periods ended June 30, 2005, and consolidated statement of cash flows for the six-month period then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management.

We conducted our review in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). A review of interim financial information consists principally of applying analytical procedures and making inquiries of persons responsible for financial and accounting matters. It is substantially less in scope than an audit conducted in accordance with standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States), the objective of which is the expression of an opinion regarding the financial statements taken as a whole. Accordingly, we do not express such an opinion.

Based on our reviews, we are not aware of any material modifications that should be made to the accompanying interim financial statements referred to above for them to be in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

We have previously audited, in accordance with auditing standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States), the consolidated balance sheet of Force Protection, Inc., and its subsidiaries as of December 31, 2004, and the related consolidated statement of income, consolidated statement of shareholders equity and consolidated statement of comprehensive income (loss) for the year then ended (not presented herein); and in our report dated March 18, 2005, we expressed an unqualified opinion on those financial statements. In our opinion, the information set forth in the accompanying condensed balance sheet as of June 30, 2005, is fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to the balance sheet from which it has been derived.

The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared assuming that the Company will continue as a going concern. As discussed in Note 18 to the financial statements, the Company's recurring losses from operations and its difficulties in generating sufficient cash flow from operations to meet its obligation and sustain its operations raise substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a going concern. Management's plans concerning these matters are also described in Note 18. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

Our Chief Executive Officer, Mr. McGilton, is a principle of APT Leadership. The Company has hired APT to perform various consulting duties. As of June 30, 2005, the Company has paid APT Leadership $118,725.

NOTE 16 STOCK OPTION PLAN

Currently, we do not have a stock option plan. We have issued 647,833 common stock options at a strike price of $1.50 of which as of June 30, 2005 there were 180,557 vested shares.

NOTE 17 GOVERNMENT AUDIT LIABILITY

The Company receives revenue from various federal agencies under sales contracts. Such contracts are subject to audit by the purchaser, which could lead to requests for reimbursement to the purchaser for expenditures not in compliance with the terms of the contract. Based on Federal Accounting Regulations (FAR) we may be subject to reductions in overall contract award pricing due to potential rate changes in manufacturing overhead, G&A, and margin. Based upon the lack of reimbursement requests in prior grant audits, management believes such reimbursement requests, if any, will be immaterial.

NOTE 18 GOING CONCERN

The financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis, which contemplates continuity of operations, realization of assets and liquidation of liabilities in the normal course of business. The Company has recurring losses of $31,961,186 at December 31, 2004 and has negative cash flows from operating activities at June 30, 2005 of $4,804,546. The ability of the Company to operate a going concern is dependent upon its ability (1) to obtain sufficient debt and/or equity capital and/or (2) cut operating costs such that the Company can operate until such time that it resumes generating positive cash flow from operations. Management is taking following steps to address this situation: (a) reducing operating costs, thus reducing the break even revenue level; (b) negotiating to replace the line of credits with an agreement more attractive terms and expand borrowing capacity.

The future success of the Company is likely dependent on its ability to attain additional capital to support growth and ultimately, upon its ability to attain future profitable operations. There can be no assurance that the Company will be successful in obtaining such financing, or that it will attain positive cash flow from operations. The successful outcome of these or any future activities cannot be determined at this time and there is no assurance that if achieved, the Company will have sufficient funds to execute their business plans or generate positive operating results. The financial statements do not include any adjustments relating to the recoverability and classification of asset carrying amounts or the amount and classification of liabilities that might result should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern.

NOTE 19 RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT COST

Research and development (R&D) cost are expensed as incurred. 2005 Second quarter R&D expense was $ 367,925.

NOTE 20 - COMMON STOCK WARRANTS

In connection with the issuance of the Series D convertible preferred stock, the Company issued warrants to purchase 2,633,333 shares of common stock at an exercise price of $3.75 per share to the firms that participated in the Series D issuance. The warrants expire January 19, 2008.

The Company issued warrants to purchase 66,667 shares of common stock at an exercise price of $3.75 expiring January 19, 2008 as a placement fee in connection with the series D issuance.

The Company issued warrants to purchase 150,000 shares of common stock at an exercise price of $3.75 expiring January 19, 2008 as settlement of a dispute.

Edgar Filing: FORCE PROTECTION INC - Form 10QSB

Outstanding warrants issued during fiscal years 2003 and 2004:

The Company issued warrants to purchase 322,918 shares of common stock at an exercise price of $0.84 expiring August 31, 2005 through November 15, 2008.

The Company issued warrants to purchase 20,000 shares of common stock at an exercise price of $1.20 expiring September 23, 2008.

The Company issued warrants to purchase 6,250 shares of common stock at an exercise price of $2.40 expiring April 1, 2006.

The Company issued warrants to purchase 67,709 shares of common stock at an exercise price of $4.80 expiring May 20, 2006.

Warrants are immediately exercisable. The fair value of all these warrants was insignificant at the issuance date.

ITEM 2 - MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OR PLAN OF OPERATION

Cautionary Statement Concerning Forward-Looking Statements

This Report contains forward-looking statements, including, without limitation, statements concerning possible or assumed future results of operations and those preceded by, followed by or that include the words believes, could, expects, intends, anticipates, or similar expressions. Actual results could differ materially from those anticipated in the forward-looking statements for many reasons including our ability to raise capital when necessary; availability of parts and raw materials for our products; continued customer acceptance of our products; on-going success of our research and development efforts and other risks described in our annual report on Form 10-KSB and elsewhere in this report. Although we believe the expectations reflected in the forward-looking statements are reasonable, they relate only to events as of the date on which the statements are made, and our future results, levels of activity, performance or achievements may not meet these expectations. We do not intend to update any of the forward-looking statements after the date of this document to conform these statements to actual results or to changes in our expectations, except as required by law.

Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

The Securities and Exchange Commission, or SEC, issued Financial Reporting release No. 60, Cautionary Advice Regarding Disclosure About Critical Accounting Policies, or FRR 60, suggesting companies provide additional disclosure and commentary on their most critical accounting policies. In FRR 60, the SEC defined the most critical accounting policies as the ones that are most important to the portrayal of a company's financial condition and operating results, and require management to make its most difficult and subjective judgments, often as a result of the need to make estimates of matters that are inherently uncertain. The methods, estimates and judgments we use in applying these most critical accounting policies have a significant impact on the results we report in our financial statements.

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, as well as the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

As a general rule, financial information is accounted for and based on cost, not current market value. Revenues and gains should be matched using the accrual method with the expenses giving rise to the revenues and gains to determine earnings for the period. Expenses are necessarily incurred to produce revenue. Expenses are then matched in the same accounting period against the revenue generated. Revenues are recognized when they are earned and expenses are recognized in the same period as the related revenue (matching or using a systematic and rational allocation or expensing in the period in which they expire), not necessarily in the period in which we receive or expend cash.

We believe the following critical accounting policies and procedures, among others, affect our more significant judgments and estimates used in the preparation of our consolidated financial statements:

Revenue recognition;

Inventory cost & Associated Reserves; and

Allocation of direct & indirect cost of sales.

We recognize revenue upon formal acceptance of vehicles by customers. We receive performance based payments from the U.S. Army and U.S. Marines and record such payments as deferred revenue, carrying them on our balance sheet as such until acceptance by the customer.

Edgar Filing: FORCE PROTECTION INC - Form 10QSB

In December 2004, FASB issued Statement No. 123(R), Share-Based Payment, which establishes accounting standards for transactions in which an entity receives employee services in exchange for (a) equity instruments of the entity or (b) liabilities that are based on the fair value of the entity's equity instruments or that may be settled by the issuance of equity instruments. Effective in the third quarter of 2005, SFAS 123(R) will require us to recognize the grant-date fair value of stock options and equity based compensation issued to employees in the statement of operations. The statement also requires that such transactions be accounted for using the fair-value-based method, thereby eliminating use of the intrinsic method of accounting in APB No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees, which was permitted under Statement 123, as originally issued. To date, we have expensed stock based compensation on the intrinsic method. We are currently evaluating the impact of Statement No. 123 (R) on our financial condition and results of operations.

In November 2004, the FASB issued Statement No. 151, Inventory Costs, to amend the guidance in Chapter 4, Inventory Pricing, of the FASB Accounting Research Bulletin No. 43, Restatement and Revision of Accounting Research Bulletins, which will become effective for us in fiscal year 2006. Statement No. 151 clarifies the accounting for abnormal amounts of idle facility expense, freight, handling costs, and wasted materials. The Statement requires that those items be recognized as current-period charges. Additionally, Statement No. 151 requires that allocation of fixed production overhead to the costs of conversion be based on normal capacity of the production facility. We are currently following Statement No. 151 and do not believe that Statement No. 151 will have a significant impact on our financial condition and results of operations.

Principles of Consolidation: The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of Force Protection, Inc., and our two wholly owned subsidiaries, Force Protection Industries, Inc. (formerly Technical Solutions Group, Inc.) and TSG International, Inc. for the quarter ended June 30, 2005. All inter-company balances and transactions are eliminated in consolidation.

Matching Principle: As a general rule, financial information is accounted for and based on cost, not current market value. Revenues and gains should be matched using the accrual method with the expenses giving rise to the revenues and gains to determine earnings for the period. Expenses are necessarily incurred to produce revenue. Expenses are then matched in the same accounting period against the revenue generated. Revenues are recognized when they are earned and expenses are recognized in the same period as the related revenue (matching or using a systematic and rational allocation or expensing in the period in which they expire), not necessarily in the period in which we receive or expend the cash.

Cash Equivalents: For purposes of reporting cash flows, we consider all highly liquid debt instruments purchased with maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents. Cash equivalents consist primarily of United States government securities.

Inventories: Inventories are stated at the lower of cost or market. The cost is determined under the first-in, first-out, or FIFO, base valuation method.

Property, Plant and Equipment: Property and equipment are stated at cost or at the value of the operating agreement. We capitalize additions and improvements which include all material, labor and engineering cost to design, install or improve the asset. Routine repairs and maintenance are expensed as incurred. The capitalization threshold is $2,000 and a useful life greater than one year. Depreciation and amortization are computed using the straight-line method over the following estimated useful lives:

Building and improvements	20 years
Furniture and fixtures	3 years
Machinery and equipment	7 years
Tooling and molds	7 years
Vehicles	5 years

Goodwill: Under SFAS No. 142, Goodwill and other Intangible Assets, all goodwill amortization ceased effective Jan. 1, 2002. Rather, goodwill is now subject to only impairment reviews. A fair-value based test is applied at the reporting level. This test requires various judgments and estimates. A goodwill impairment loss will be recorded for any goodwill that is determined to be impaired. We follow SFAS 142, Goodwill and Intangible Assets, which requires us to test goodwill for potential impairment annually. When the carrying value exceeds fair value, the impairment is the difference between the carrying value of goodwill and the implied value. The implied value of goodwill is the difference between the fair value for the unit as a whole and the value of individual assets and liabilities using an as-if purchase price.

Gain/Loss per Share: We utilize SFAS No. 128, Earnings per Share. Basic gain/loss per share is computed by dividing gain/loss available to common stockholders by the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding. Diluted gain/loss per share is computed similar to basic gain/loss per share except that the denominator is increased to include the number of additional common shares that would have been outstanding if the potential common shares had been issued and if the additional common shares were dilutive.

Estimates: The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, as well as the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Revenue Recognition: Our revenue is derived principally from the sale of our vehicles and associated spare parts and training services. Revenue from products and services is recognized at the time goods are shipped or services are provided to the customer, with an appropriate provision for returns and allowances. We receive performance based payments based on completion of specific milestones. These payments are recorded as Deferred Revenue and recognized on the profit and loss statement upon customer acceptance of the completed vehicle. It is our policy to not recognize revenue until customer acceptance. All advance payments are treated as deferred revenue .

Dividend Policy: We have never declared or paid a cash dividend on our common stock. We do not anticipate paying any cash dividends on our common stock in the foreseeable future. Any future determination to pay cash dividends will be at the discretion of our board of directors and will depend upon our financial condition, operating results, capital requirements, restrictions contained in our agreements and other factors which our board of directors deems relevant. We do pay a semi-annual 6% dividend in cash or shares of common stock on our Series D Preferred Convertible Stock for so long as such shares are outstanding. To date, one share dividend of 57,186 common shares has been issued.

Financial Condition and Results of Operations

Overview: We showed a profitable quarter for the first time in our operating history during the second quarter of 2005 as we continued to execute on existing vehicle orders to the U.S. Army and the U.S. Marine Corps. During the three month period ended June 30, 2005 we delivered 22 Buffalo vehicles to the Army and 2 Cougars to the Marine Corps as part of our contract backlog from 2004. Vehicle sales together with associated spare parts, service, and training generated gross revenue of $18,295,357, against which we incurred $18,164,724 in cost of sales and other expenses, resulting in a net gain of $130,633. The following table sets forth our consolidated statements of operations for the three month period ended June 30th for the years 2004 and 2005. The discussion and analysis that follows should be read in conjunction with our consolidated financial statements and related notes included elsewhere in this report.

Revenue: Revenue for the three month period ended June 30, 2005 was $18,295,357, representing an increase of $18,279,779 compared to the same period in 2004. The increase during this period was mainly due to the increased level of vehicle production we have achieved since last year. Our revenue is derived from the sale of our Buffalos and Cougars vehicles and the sale of spare parts and other support services, however we do not book any income until our products are formally accepted by our customers. The revenue we received during this three month period thus reflects amounts we previously carried on our balance sheet as deferred revenue pending acceptance of the final products by the U.S. Army and the U.S. Marines. During the three month period ending June 30, 2005, we received $17,221,543 from vehicle sales and $1,073,814 from the sale of spare parts and other support services.

Cost of Sales: Cost of sales (to include vehicles and spare parts) for the three month period ended June 30, 2005 was $14,258,685, representing an increase of $13,962,158 compared to the same period in 2004. The increase during this period was mainly due to the increased level of vehicle production, and the corresponding increased cost of labor and material associated with our manufacturing activities. Cost of sales for our vehicles was 78% of gross revenues for the three month period ended June 30, 2005. We had no vehicle sales during the second quarter of in 2004. Cost of sales for our spare parts was 64.6% of gross revenues for the three month period ended June 30, 2005 compared to 87.3% for the same period in 2004. As we continue to expand our production capacity, we expect to achieve increased cost efficiency from volume purchasing, improvements in our manufacturing processes and the allocation of indirect costs across a broader production base, resulting in a projected decrease in the cost of sales as a percentage of gross revenues.

Selling, General and Administrative Expenses: Selling, General and Administrative expenses for the three months ended June 30, 2005 were $3,732,020, representing an increase of $2,058,635 compared to the same period in 2004. This increase included $276,539 Research & Development expenditures, $752,562 commission and settlement related expenses, $563,536 attributable to benefits for new employees, and $100,365 associated with the cost of maintaining a senior mechanic in Iraq to ensure the highest level of support for our vehicles deployed with the U.S. Marine Corps. We expect our Selling, General and Administrative expenses to increase over time as we continue to expand our production capacity to meet increasing sales demand and we expect the percentage of our Selling, General and Administrative expenses in relation to gross revenues to decrease as we achieve greater efficiencies of scale.

Net Gain: Net Gain for the three months ended June 30, 2005 was $130,633, representing an increase of $2,088,623 as compared to the net loss of $1,957,990 incurred during the same period in 2004. This increase reflects our progress in achieving gross profits on the sale of our vehicles and spare parts, and our achieving increased revenues from increased vehicle production levels.

Future Results: Based on our projections, we expect to incur a loss during the three month period ending September 30, 2005 due to a drop in production levels resulting from the completion of our prior contract backlog and the gradual ramp up in production of vehicles under our new contract. During such period, we will continue to incur expenses associated with our infrastructure expansion, and we will not be in a position to fully realize revenue from new contract vehicle deliveries. However, during the three month period ending December 31, 2005 we expect to absorb the majority of expansion costs and achieve a higher level of production capacity, resulting in a return to profitability for that period.

Backlog: On April 23, 2004 we announced a contract award to deliver Cougar Hardened Engineer Vehicles (HEV) to the United States Marine Corps, of which 14 were initially funded under the contract. On March 8, 2005 the US Marine Corp exercised its option to increase the number of HEV vehicles by 14, for a total of 28 vehicles. As of June 30, 2005 we have delivered a total of 15 HEV vehicles, and have a remaining backlog of 13 Cougar HEV vehicles to be delivered under this contract. On May 17, 2004 we announced the award of a contract to deliver 21 Buffalo vehicles to the U.S. Army and in October 2004 we were awarded a separate contract by the US Army for an additional 15 Buffalo vehicles. Initial deliveries under these contracts began during the fourth quarter of 2004, and as of June 30, 2005 we have delivered a total of 33 Buffalo vehicles, leaving a backlog of 3 Buffalo vehicles to be delivered under these two contracts. As of June 30, 2005 our sales backlog for the 13 Cougar HEV vehicles and the 3 remaining Buffalo vehicles is approximately $8,000,000. During the period ended June 30, 2005, we announced the award of a new contract by the United States Marine Corps for delivery of up to 122 Cougar Joint Explosive Ordinance Disposal Rapid Removal (JERRV) vehicles to be delivered during the 2005 and 2006. As of June 30, 2005 the value of this JERRV contract (together with associated spares parts and training) is $93,000,000.

Trends, Risks and Uncertainties

The results of our operations for the period ended June 30, 2005 reflect a generally positive trend in the continued growth of our company. During 2004 we were awarded contracts by the US Army for 36 Buffalos and by the US Marines for 28 Cougars, for a total of 64 vehicles. We delivered 14 of the vehicles during 2004, 10 of the vehicles during the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 24 vehicles during the three month period ended June 30, 2005. As of June 30, 2005 we have a backlog of 16 vehicles under these prior contracts with a remaining contract value of $7,565,000. Based upon our current production schedule, we anticipate that during the third quarter of 2005 we should complete deliveries of all Buffalo and Cougar vehicles remaining from the contracts awarded to us during 2004.

In addition to continued performance of our contract backlog, during the period ending June 30, 2005, we were awarded a new contract by the U.S. Marine Corps System Command for delivery under three Delivery Orders of 122 Cougars (designated JERRV for Joint Explosive Removal and Recovery Vehicles) with associated spares and training, for a total amount not to exceed $87,190,000. These vehicles are scheduled for delivery commencing in third quarter 2005 and ending in first quarter 2006 and will be used by the Marine Corps, the Army and the Navy under a joint services agreement. Set out below is a table showing actual and projected deliveries of our vehicles during 2004 and 2005, based on our internal estimates although our actual results may vary depending upon parts and material availability, actual production schedules, production efficiencies and other contingencies discussed in this report.

While our current trend of increasing revenues has enabled us to achieve profitability for the first time in our history, and the new joint services contract reflects a broader, growing demand for our vehicles, we are faced with the challenge of expanding our manufacturing capacity to fully exploit this opportunity. Meeting this challenge will be the primary focus of our management during the third and fourth quarters of 2005.

Our new contract for production of 122 JERRV vehicles presents an exciting opportunity for us but it also presents the challenge of expanding our production capacity to meet our customer's expedited delivery schedule. Resource constraints, that previously existed in the company, prevented the company from preparing for the current expedited opportunities. Accepting such challenges has created the significant current opportunities but may expose us to several potential risks, including the risk of non-performance and/or loss of liquidity. To meet the vehicle delivery schedule required by the customer, we must substantially expand our production capabilities beyond our present state, specifically increasing capacity to more than 20 vehicles per month. To meet this goal, we have undertaken the following steps:

Management Team we have restructured our senior management team, by hiring a Chief Executive Officer, an experienced President for our operating subsidiary, new Vice Presidents of Quality and Human Resources, new Program Managers and several new departmental directors. These executives bring substantial depth of experience to our Company and have filled critical gaps in our operations. We will continue to seek qualified and experienced individuals as required to meet our future needs.

Workforce Expansion we are expanding our workforce to meet our operational requirements by adding employees to the engineering, quality, purchasing and production departments. As of June 30, 2005, we had 248 employees and long term independent contractors, an increase of 63 employees and contractors from December 31, 2004.

Infrastructure Improvement we are improving and expanding our infrastructure to accommodate an increased workforce and increased production capacity. Such activities include leasing an additional 17,000 square feet of office space, implementing a new telecommunication system and a new Material Resource Planning system, implementing company-wide training programs to improve our internal systems and processes, and constructing new manufacturing fixtures and production cells.

Business Agreements to assist us in undertaking this rapid expansion program we have entered into agreements with various consultants and vendors to provide mission critical support. These agreements include an arrangement with Spartan Chassis, Inc. to provide vehicle integration services, an agreement with Ricardo, Inc. to provide automotive engineering services; and an agreement with Apt Leadership to provide management leadership services and analytic software. We will continue to utilize third parties as necessary to meet current requirements during the process of building our internal capabilities.

We recognize there are risks associated with our substantial and on-going expansion. In the event we are delayed in meeting the delivery schedule under the JERRV contract, we may be obligated to pay liquidated damages for any delayed vehicle, and in the event of substantial failure to perform, the customer could cancel the contract and/or claim additional damages. Payment of liquidated damages could negatively impact our future liquidity, and since we are incurring significant costs associated with our expansion program based on the expectation of future contract revenues, loss of the JERRV contract would have a dramatic impact on both our liquidity and our financial performance.

In the past, we encountered some difficulties in securing the necessary components for our vehicles, for example steel, truck chassis, axle sets and ballistic glass. In response, we have identified multiple vendors for certain components so we have alternate sources of supply if necessary. Additionally, we have implemented a program of advance purchasing and stockpiling critical materials. For example, we currently have pre-purchased steel and truck parts to ensure availability of material needed for current and potential future orders. While we do not currently expect the potential non-availability of parts or raw materials to materially affect our operations, there is a possibility that delays or increased costs could negatively impact our financial performance if circumstances change. Apart from the foregoing, the main uncertainty about our future operations is whether we will continue to receive additional orders for our vehicles. It is impossible to predict with certainty whether such future orders will be placed by existing or new customers. If we do not receive future orders, it is unlikely that our business will continue. However, we believe our vehicles provide proven blast and ballistic protection, and that for so long as there is a risk of bodily harm to service personnel from explosive blasts, there will be a market for our products.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Current Liquidity: For the six month period ending June 30, 2005, we had a starting cash balance of $2,264,406 and an ending cash balance of $8,812,344 representing an increase in our cash of $6,547,938. During the six month period ended June 30, 2005, we incurred a net cash loss from operations of $4,804,546 (mostly the result of inventory purchases), we paid down $4,000,000 in short term debt outstanding under our credit facility, and we invested $1,092,676 in infrastructure expansion. To meet our cash needs during this period, we sold 15,800 shares of our Series D Convertible Preferred Stock for $15,800,000 and we exercised the balance of $445,985 remaining under our Equity Line of Credit facility originally entered into on September 20, 2003 with Dutchess Private Equities Fund. During 2005 the Dutchess Equity Line of Credit was completely repaid.

Future Liquidity: Our Current Assets exceed our Current Liabilities by $13,412,549 and we have only nominal long-term debt ($159,153). Based on these circumstances and our cash projections, we believe we have sufficient cash resources to cover our fixed costs during the next reporting period ending September 30, 2005, and to fund our expected operational activities. In addition to our cash on hand, we expect to receive the $6,565,000 balance due for the 15 vehicles remaining under our 2004 contract backlog, and under the JERRV contract we expect to receive monthly payments according to scheduled performance milestones. In addition, we have secured a revolving credit line of $5,000,000 through GC Financial Services, Inc. which includes a Factoring Agreement allowing us to factor our U.S. government contract receivables and receive payment within 24-48 hours of delivery, greatly reducing the impact of the government contract payment cycle on our short term liquidity. During the third quarter we expect to incur substantial operating and investment expenses as we expand our manufacturing capacity to fulfill our production requirements and commence production of the JERRV vehicles, however we expect the cash available from these sources will be adequate to meet our projected financial requirements.

Uncertainties: Our currently anticipated level of revenue and cash flow are subject to some uncertainties. The amount of funds that we will require depends on several factors, including without limitation, the extent and timing of sales of our products, future inventory costs, the timing and costs associated with the expansion of our manufacturing, development, engineering and customer support capabilities, the timing and cost of our product development and enhancement activities and our operating results. We expect in the future to be able to generate cash flows from operations sufficient to satisfy our cash requirements, but if we were unable to do so, we may need to seek alternative sources of cash. Potential sources of such cash could include leasing capital equipment, securing lines of credit, or making additional sales of our securities. If we raise funds through the sale of securities, the common stock currently outstanding could be diluted. There is a risk that such additional financing may not be available, or may not be available on acceptable terms, and the inability to obtain additional financing or generate sufficient cash from operations could require us to reduce or eliminate expenditures for capital equipment, research and development, production, or marketing of our products, or otherwise curtail or discontinue our operations, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. Finally, realization of a major portion of the assets shown on our balance sheet is dependent upon the success of our future operations.

Inflation

We do not believe that inflation has had or is likely to have any significant impact on our revenues. However, there is currently a shortage of the type of steel we use in our products. We currently have enough steel on hand or on order to manufacture to our existing contracts. We continue to purchase steel anticipating future requirements. If the price of steel increases significantly, the cost of our products could increase. It is unlikely we will be able to pass on this cost under our current contracts. As a result, if the cost of our raw materials increases, our profitability, if any, could decrease.

Subsidiaries

As of June 30,, 2005, we had two wholly-owned subsidiaries, Force Protection Industries, Inc. a Nevada corporation and TSG, International, a Nevada corporation.

ITEM 3 CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

Disclosure Controls and Procedures

Our management evaluated, with the participation of our Chief Executive Officer and our Chief Financial Officer, the effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures as of the end of the period covered by this Quarterly Report on Form 10-QSB. Based on this evaluation, our Chief Executive Officer and our Chief Financial Officer have concluded that our disclosure controls and procedures are effective to ensure that information we are required to disclose in reports that we file or submit under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (i) is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified in Securities and Exchange Commission rules and forms, and (ii) is accumulated and communicated to our management, including our Chief Executive Officer and our Chief Financial Officer, as appropriate to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure. Our disclosure controls and procedures are designed to provide reasonable assurance that such information is accumulated and communicated to our management. Our disclosure controls and procedures include components of our internal control over financial reporting. Management's assessment of the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting is expressed at the level of reasonable assurance that the control system, no matter how well designed and operated, can provide only reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that the control system's objectives will be met.

Changes in Internal Controls over Financial Reporting

There were no changes in our internal control over financial reporting that occurred during our last fiscal quarter that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, our internal control over financial reporting. However, as discussed above we are committed to a process of change and improvement throughout the enterprise intended to optimize our operations, and this process will necessarily entail improvements to our financial controls over the coming year.

Code of Ethics

We have adopted a Code of Ethics that applies to all executive officers and other employees. Our Code of Ethics is available for review on our website at www.forceprotectioninc.com.
