VERIFONE/LIPMAN ACQUISITION

Transaction Overview / Structure

1. Please explain how the transaction is structured?

VeriFone will issue in the aggregate approximately 13.3 million shares of VeriFone stock and pay approximately $382 million in cash, adjusted for the special dividend described below; for all outstanding Lipman shares.

The transaction is structured as a reverse triangular merger. A newly formed Israeli subsidiary of VeriFone will be merged into Lipman as a result of which the Lipman shareholders will be entitled to the purchase price and Lipman will become a wholly-owned subsidiary of VeriFone.

2. What is the total purchase price?

Total consideration is $793 million

The consideration includes a special dividend, the amount of which has not been finally determined but will likely slightly exceed $23 million, payable to Lipman shareholders prior to closing

Lipman shareholders will receive 0.5 shares of VeriFone common stock and $14.304 per share in cash (less the per share amount of the special dividend); OR

In lieu of this, Lipman shareholders can check to receive either:

- a. $29.07 in cash (less the per share amount of the special dividend); OR
- b. 0.9844 VeriFone shares per Lipman share, which will be adjusted for the special dividend

These elections will be subject to proration such that the aggregate cash/stock split is fixed at the amounts described under 1. above.

3. Please explain the dividend concept? How does this benefit Lipman or VeriFone shareholders?

VeriFone and Lipman structured the special dividend to provide incremental value to Lipman shareholders and to reduce financing costs for VeriFone. In order to make efficient use of a portion of Lipman's existing cash to finance the acquisition, the special dividend will be paid to Lipman shareholders prior to closing. Payment of the dividend enables VeriFone to achieve reduced financing costs and to provide selling shareholders with a greater return.

4. Will Lipman shareholders get a special dividend in addition to whatever election they decide to receive for their consideration in this transaction?

No, the amount of the special dividend will be deducted from the consideration received by Lipman shareholders. For Lipman shareholders who elect to receive cash or a mix of cash and stock, the per share amount of the dividend will be reflected in the amount of cash consideration they receive. In the event that any Lipman shareholders receive all stock, the number of shares of VeriFone common stock delivered will be reduced to reflect the dividend.

5. How will VeriFone finance the cash portion?

VeriFone will finance the acquisition and refinance existing debt through a $540 million Senior Secured Credit Facility including a $40 million undrawn revolver and a $500 million Term Loan B.

Debt / EBITDA will approximate 3.0x at closing, with a goal of rapidly deleveraging post-closing.

6. What is the timing?

VeriFone and Lipman will be convening shareholders meetings after completing securities filings in the U.S. and Israel. The meetings are currently expected to be held in VeriFone's third fiscal quarter ending July 31, 2006. Under Israeli law, closing cannot occur until at least 30 days after these meetings are held.

Closing is expected to occur by the end of VeriFone's current fiscal year (October 31, 2006).

7. Are there conditions to closing? Have the Boards of directors of each company approved the transaction?

There are conditions to closing. The transaction is subject to the approval of each Company's shareholders approval (51% for VeriFone and 75% for Lipman).

The transaction is also subject to regulatory approval and other customary conditions.

The Boards of Directors of VeriFone and Lipman have each approved the transaction.
