Item 8.01 Other Events.

On March 7, 2011, ZIOPHARM Oncology, Inc. (the “Company”) announced that it had entered into a License and Collaboration Agreement with Solasia Pharma K.K (“Solasia”).

Pursuant to the License and Collaboration Agreement (the “Agreement”), the Company granted Solasia an exclusive license to develop and commercialize ZIOPHARM’s darinaparsin product (Zinapar™ or ZIO-101) in both intravenous and oral forms and related organic arsenic molecules, in all indications for human use in a pan-Asian/Pacific territory comprised of Japan, China, Hong Kong, Macau, Republic of Korea, Taiwan, Singapore, Australia, New Zealand, Malaysia, Indonesia, Philippines and Thailand.

As consideration for the license, the Company will receive an up-front payment of $5 million to be used exclusively for further clinical development of darinaparsin outside of the pan-Asian/Pacific territory, and will be entitled to receive additional payments of up to $32.5 million in development-based milestones and up to $53.5 million in sales-based milestones. The Company will also be entitled to receive double digit royalty payments from Solasia based upon on net sales of licensed products in the applicable territories, once commercialized, and a percentage of sublicense revenues generated by Solasia.

The Agreement provides that Solasia will be responsible for the development and commercialization of darinaparsin in the pan-Asian/Pacific territory, subject to input from a joint steering committee of the parties intended to align a strategy for worldwide development. The Company anticipates that it will supply drug product for Solasia’s clinical trials at Solasia’s cost and the Company expects to be responsible for the expenses of scale up commercial production worldwide. The parties may also carry out future joint development activities under a cost sharing arrangement.
