operation to reduce the costs of operation. The Company also migrated to a more robust, but less expensive, video solution beginning in late 2006.

Selling, general and administrative

Selling, general and administrative expense decreased by $0.1 million and $0.4 million for the three and six month periods ended June 30, 2007, respectively, due to decreases in other operating taxes and allocated internal costs.

Depreciation and amortization

Depreciation and amortization expense decreased in the three months ended June 30, 2007 due to the write-off in 2006 of $0.5 million of equipment related to the four terminated contracts discussed above. Depreciation and amortization expense increased $0.4 million compared to the first six months of 2006, due primarily to fixed assets added over the past twelve months.

The Mobile segment provides tower rental space to affiliated and non-affiliated companies in the Company's PCS markets and paging services throughout the northern Shenandoah Valley.

At June 30, 2007, the Mobile segment had 113 towers and 158 non-affiliate tenants compared to 110 towers and 152 non-affiliate tenants at June 30, 2006.

Operating revenues

The increases in tower lease revenue non-affiliate resulted primarily from leases on new towers added during 2006. Approximately ten tower leases were eliminated during the first quarter of 2007, reflecting the continuing consolidation of wireless carriers, as the combining companies eliminated duplicate tower leases, offsetting other new leases added over the past year.

The increase in tower lease revenue affiliate in the three months ended June 30, 2007, resulted from changes to tower lease rates in the second quarter of 2007, bringing monthly affiliate rents more in line with market rents for tower leases.

Edgar Filing: Nuveen Multi-Strategy Income & Growth Fund - Form N-PX

The increase in other revenue in the six month period resulted primarily from fees received for early lease terminations resulting from continuing consolidation among wireless carriers.

Operating expenses

The increase in cost of goods and services for both the three and six month periods primarily resulted from write-offs of certain preliminary tower site acquisition costs for tower sites that will not be built.

Edgar Filing: Nuveen Multi-Strategy Income & Growth Fund - Form N-PX

The increase in selling, general and administrative costs resulted primarily from increased operating taxes, including disputed sales taxes paid during the first quarter of 2007 period by the Company in excess of amounts previously accrued.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

The Company has four principal sources of funds available to meet the financing needs of its operations, capital projects, debt service, investments and potential dividends. These sources include cash flows from operations, cash and cash equivalents, the liquidation of investments and borrowings. Management routinely considers the alternatives available to determine what mix of sources are best suited for the long-term benefit of the Company.

Sources and Uses of Cash. The Company generated $21.6 million of net cash from operations in the 2007 six month period, compared to $15.7 million in the 2006 six month period. Major changes in operating cash components from 2006 to 2007 included the 2006 gain from the sale of RTB stock (reflected in net income and gain on disposal of investments). Changes in accounts receivable and accounts payable were less during 2007 due to changes related to the 2007 Amendments with Sprint Nextel. The increase in materials and supplies largely reflects purchases of handsets to support 13 additional retail stores acquired in the second quarter of 2007.

Indebtedness. As of June 30, 2007, the Company's indebtedness totaled $24.0 million, with an annualized overall weighted average interest rate of approximately 7.5%. As of June 30, 2007, the Company was in compliance with the covenants in its credit agreements.

During the first quarter of 2006, the Company paid down the remaining outstanding balance on the line of credit used to fund the NTC acquisition in late 2004. While no balances are currently outstanding on this line of credit, the Company has the ability to borrow approximately $12.0 million.

The Company has no off-balance sheet arrangements and has not entered into any transactions involving unconsolidated, limited purpose entities or commodity contracts.

Capital Commitments. Capital expenditures budgeted for 2007 total approximately $36.7 million, including approximately $14.1 million for additional PCS base stations, additional towers and switch upgrades to enhance the PCS network. Approximately $7.2 million is budgeted for Converged Services' network upgrades and new apartment complex build outs, improvements and replacements, approximately $3.5 million for local regulated telephone operations, approximately $6.4 million for fiber projects, and approximately $5.5 million for technology upgrades and other capital needs. Following the execution of the 2007 Amendments, the Company increased the budget for PCS related capital expenditures from $5.1 million to $14.1 million.

For the 2007 six month period, the Company spent $8.8 million on capital projects, compared to $10.3 million in 2006. Spending related to PCS is scheduled to be completed primarily in the final months of 2007, while spending increased for DSL equipment upgrades and other projects in the Telephone segment and for network equipment upgrades and new project buildouts in the Converged Services segment.

The Company believes that cash on hand, cash flow from operations and borrowings expected to be available under the Company's existing revolving credit facility will provide sufficient cash to enable the Company to fund its planned capital expenditures, make scheduled principal and interest payments, meet its other cash requirements and maintain compliance with the terms of its financing agreements for at least the next 12 months. Thereafter, capital expenditures will likely continue to be required to provide increased capacity to meet the Company's expected growth in demand for its products and services. The actual amount and timing of the Company's future capital requirements may differ materially from the Company's estimate depending on the demand for its products and new market developments and opportunities. The Company currently expects that it will fund its future capital expenditures primarily with cash from operations and with borrowings, although there are events outside the control of the Company that could have an adverse impact on cash flows from operations.

These events include, but are not limited to: changes in overall economic conditions, regulatory requirements, changes in technologies, availability of labor resources and capital, changes in the Company's relationship with Sprint Nextel, cancellations or non-renewal of Converged Services contracts and other conditions. The PCS subsidiary's operations are dependent upon Sprint Nextel's ability to execute certain functions such as billing, customer care, and collections; the subsidiary's ability to develop and implement successful marketing programs and new products and services, and the subsidiary's ability to effectively and economically manage other operating activities under the Company's agreements with Sprint Nextel. The Company's ability to attract and maintain a sufficient customer base is also critical to its ability to maintain a positive cash flow from operations. The foregoing events individually or collectively could affect the Company's results.

Recently Issued Accounting Standards

There were no recently issued accounting standards, not adopted by the Company as of June 30, 2007, that are expected to have a material impact on the Company's results of operations or financial condition.

ITEM 3. QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURES ABOUT MARKET RISK

The Company's market risks relate primarily to changes in interest rates on instruments held for other than trading purposes. The Company's interest rate risk involves three components. The first component is outstanding debt with variable rates. As of June 30, 2007, the Company has no variable rate debt outstanding. The Company's debt has fixed rates through maturity. A 10.0% increase in interest rates would decrease the fair value of the Company's total debt by approximately $0.4 million, while the estimated fair value of the fixed rate debt was approximately $25.4 million as of June 30, 2007.

The second component of interest rate risk consists of temporary excess cash, which is generally invested in short-term investment vehicles that have limited interest rate risk, such as overnight repurchase agreements and Treasury bills with a maturity of less than 90 days. Management continues to evaluate the most beneficial use of these funds.

The third component of interest rate risk is marked increases in interest rates that may adversely affect the rate at which the Company may borrow funds for growth in the future. Management does not believe that this risk is currently significant because the Company's existing sources of liquidity are adequate to provide cash for operations, payment of debt and near-term capital projects.

Management does not view market risk as having a significant impact on the Company's results of operations, although future results could be adversely affected if interest rates were to increase significantly for an extended period and the Company were to require external financing. General economic conditions affected by regulatory changes, competition or other external influences may pose a higher risk to the Company's overall results.

As of June 30, 2007, the Company has approximately $7.2 million invested in privately held companies directly or through investments with portfolio managers. Most of the companies are in an early stage of development and significant increases in interest rates could have an adverse impact on their results, ability to raise capital and viability. The Company's market risk is limited to the funds previously invested and an additional $0.5 million committed under contracts the Company has signed with portfolio managers. Additionally, the Company's investments at June 30, 2007, included approximately $2.5 million held in a rabbi trust to be invested in various stock and bond mutual funds in connection with participants' investment elections under the SERP. The transfers to specific funds did not occur until early July 2007.

ITEM 4. CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

Evaluation of Disclosure Controls and Procedures

Management, with the participation of our President and Chief Executive Officer, who is the principal executive officer, and the Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer, who is the principal financial officer, conducted an evaluation of our disclosure controls and procedures, as defined by Rule 13a-15(e) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The Company's principal executive officer and its principal financial officer concluded that the Company's disclosure controls and procedures were effective as of June 30, 2007.

Changes in Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

During the second fiscal quarter of 2007, there were no changes in the Company's internal control over financial reporting that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, its internal control over financial reporting.

Other Matters Relating to Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

Under the Company's agreements with Sprint Nextel, Sprint Nextel provides the Company with billing, collections, customer care, certain network operations and other back office services for the PCS operation, and Sprint Nextel remits to the Company approximately 60% of the Company's total operating revenues. Due to this relationship, the Company necessarily relies on Sprint Nextel to provide accurate, timely and sufficient data and information to properly record the Company's revenues, and accounts receivable, which underlie a substantial portion of the Company's periodic financial statements and other financial disclosures.

Information provided by Sprint Nextel includes reports regarding the subscriber accounts receivable in the Company's markets. Sprint Nextel provides the Company with monthly accounts receivable, billing and cash receipts information on a market level, rather than a subscriber level. The Company reviews these various reports to identify discrepancies or errors. Under the Company's agreements with Sprint Nextel, the Company is entitled to only a portion of the receipts, net of items such as taxes, government surcharges, certain allocable write-offs and the 16.8% of revenue retained by Sprint Nextel. Because of the Company's reliance on Sprint Nextel for financial information, the Company must depend on Sprint Nextel to design adequate internal controls with respect to the processes established to provide this data and information to the Company and Sprint Nextel's other Sprint PCS affiliate network partners. To address this issue, Sprint Nextel engages an independent registered public accounting firm to perform a periodic evaluation of these controls and to provide a Report on Controls Placed in Operation and Tests of Operating Effectiveness for Affiliates under guidance provided in Statement of Auditing Standards No. 70 (SAS 70 reports). The report is provided to the Company on a semi-annual basis and covers a ten-month period. The most recent report covers the period from January 1, 2006 to November 30, 2006. The most recent report indicated there were no material issues which would adversely affect the information used to support the recording of the revenues and expenses provided by Sprint Nextel related to the Company's relationship with them.

PART II. OTHER INFORMATIONITEM 1. Legal Proceedings

The Company had no material legal proceedings as of the date of this report.

ITEM 1A. Risk Factors

As previously discussed, our actual results could differ materially from our forward looking statements. Except as set forth below, there have been no material changes in the risk factors from those described in Part 1, Item 1A of the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2006.

FCC Rulemaking on Exclusive Access Agreements. In March 2007, the FCC initiated a rulemaking proceeding with respect to exclusive access agreements for video services to determine if such agreements should be prohibited or otherwise restricted. In connection with its Converged Services business, the Company negotiates with operators of MDU communities for the exclusive right to provide video services in order to justify the capital investment needed to deliver the video services demanded by residents of MDUs. While we cannot predict the outcome of the FCC rulemaking proceeding, the adoption of regulations prohibiting or otherwise regulating the entry into exclusive access agreements could negatively impact our ability to obtain, with respect to a specific property or community, the minimum penetration rates and operating efficiencies necessary to earn a reasonable return on the capital invested as well as limit our ability to obtain favorable terms from equipment vendors and content suppliers.

ITEM 2. Unregistered Sales of Equity Securities and Use of Proceeds

The Company maintains a dividend reinvestment plan (the "DRIP") for the benefit of its shareholders. When shareholders remove shares from the DRIP, the Company issues a certificate for whole shares, pays out cash for any fractional shares, and cancels the fractional shares purchased. The following table provides information about the Company's repurchases of fractional shares during the three months ended June 30, 2007; all amounts have been adjusted to reflect the three for one stock split effective August 2, 2007:

	Number of Shares Purchased	Average Price Paid per Share

April 1 to April 30	10	$ 15.68
May 1 to May 31	6	$ 15.30
June 1 to June 30	2	$ 16.26
