Table of ContentsManagement Performance and Financial Conditions*1. Outline of Operations and Business Results

The Komatsu Group (hereinafter "Komatsu") had included the forklift truck business of Komatsu Utility Co., Ltd. and all businesses of Komatsu Logistics Corp. in the Industrial Machinery, Vehicles and Others segment until the end of the previous fiscal year. Starting in the first quarter period of the current fiscal year under review, Komatsu has included all these businesses in the construction and mining equipment business and changed its business segmentation by renaming it the Construction, Mining and Utility Equipment segment and including all other businesses in the Industrial Machinery and Others segment. Accordingly, the related figures for the previous first quarter are stated after retrospectively reclassifying them.

Consolidated net sales for the first quarter period of the fiscal year, ending March 31, 2009, reached ¥606.8 billion (US$5,725 million, at US$1=¥106), up 12.2% over the corresponding first quarter period a year ago. In the construction, mining and utility equipment business, Komatsu zoomed in on expanding markets against the backdrop of burgeoning resource development around the world and infrastructure development, particularly in emerging economies. These activities offset negative factors including sluggish demand in Japan and North America as well as slowing demand in Western Europe, when the Japanese yen appreciated higher than it did in the previous first quarter period. Sales of the industrial machinery and other operations increased over the previous first quarter period a year ago, supported by steady sales of large presses and other machinery to the automobile manufacturing industry as well as the addition of NIPPEI TOYAMA Corp. to consolidated accounting.

Operating income totaled ¥83.2 billion (US$ 786 million) for the first quarter period under review. While accommodating increased prices of raw materials, effects of the Japanese yen's appreciation and other negative factors, Komatsu worked to increase prices and expand sales, generating a 4.5% improvement in its first-quarter operating income from the previous first quarter period. The operating income ratio decreased by 1.0 percentage point, to 13.7% for the first quarter period.

For the first quarter period, income from continuing operations before income taxes advanced by 15.9% from the previous first quarter period, to ¥92.7 billion (US$ 875 million), and net income amounted to ¥57.7 billion (US$ 545 million), up 2.2%.

Business results by operation are described below. (Sales figures represent those made to outside customers.)

Construction, Mining and Utility Equipment

Consolidated net sales of construction, mining and utility equipment for the first quarter period reached ¥534.0 billion (US$ 5,038 million), up 6.4% over the corresponding first quarter period a year ago. The improvement reflects Komatsu's continued efforts on sales centering on DANTOTSU models which feature unrivaled performance, such as fuel economy, as well as on price increase.

In the utility equipment business, sales of forklift trucks remained at about the same level as the previous first quarter period. However, sales of compact construction equipment declined from the corresponding first quarter period a year ago, due to reduced demand in the main markets of Japan, the United States and Europe. To improve profitability of the utility equipment business, Komatsu is going to restructure its operation by consolidating its manufacturing operation in Japan, relocating its head office functions and implementing other initiatives by the end of February 2009.

In the first quarter period under review, Komatsu launched the world's first hybrid hydraulic excavator PC200-8 Hybrid model on the Japanese market. Compared with the conventional model of its class, the PC200-8 Hybrid cuts down CO₂ emissions by 25% on average, and thus Komatsu plans to expand sales of this model as construction equipment introduced to contribute to the reduction of environmental impact.

[Japan]

Demand dropped sharply, as affected by a drop in housing starts resulting from the revision of Japan's Building Code and soaring prices for building materials as well as the reassessment of tax revenues for road construction. At the same time, public-sector investments remained sluggish. In this environment, Komatsu worked to further reinforce its sales operation, including price increase. However, sales in Japan decreased by 4.1% from the previous first quarter period.

[The Americas]

The North American market continued to decline, reflecting a drop in U.S. housing starts and an economic slowdown triggered by the subprime mortgage problem; however, demand for large equipment in resource development was strong. In Latin America, by comparison, demand expanded centering on mining equipment. While working to ensure an appropriate level of inventories at its distributors, Komatsu focused efforts to reinforce its sales and product support capabilities. First-quarter sales in the Americas declined by 2.8% from the corresponding first quarter period a year ago.

[Europe & CIS]

Demand stayed strong in Central and Eastern Europe in the first quarter period under review. Demand in CIS continued to expand, driven by burgeoning infrastructure development in urban areas in addition to resource and energy developments. In Western Europe, demand remained sluggish, reflecting the lackluster housing market in Spain and an economic slowdown in the United Kingdom. Komatsu worked to increase prices, but first-quarter sales in Europe & CIS decreased by 1.9% from the previous first quarter period.

[China]

While there were negative factors, such as the Chinese government's tight monetary policy, sharp increases in the prices for building materials, and bad weather in northeastern and southern regions, demand further expanded centering on urban renewal projects in regional cities as well as for mining use. First-quarter sales in China advanced by 36.7% over the corresponding first quarter period a year ago.

[Asia & Oceania]

Demand in Asia further expanded, as demand remained strong in the mining, civil engineering, agricultural and forestry industries in Indonesia, the largest market in Asia. In this environment, Komatsu worked to expand its production capacity. In Australia, demand steadily increased for mining equipment. First-quarter sales in Asia & Oceania advanced by 20.1% from the previous first quarter period.

[Middle East & Africa]

Edgar Filing: KOMATSU LTD - Form 6-K

Demand was strong in both regions, as infrastructure and resource developments remained buoyant against the backdrop of surging prices for crude oil and other commodities. In this environment, Komatsu continued to strengthen its sales and product support capabilities and boosted sales for the first quarter period by 17.9% over the corresponding first quarter period a year ago.

Table of ContentsIndustrial Machinery and Others

In the industrial machinery business, while working to increase prices, Komatsu concerted its efforts to expand sales of large presses and machine tools to the automobile manufacturing industry against the backdrop of strong capital investment particularly in emerging economies. Sales reached to ¥72.7 billion (US$ 686 million), up 86.4% over the corresponding first quarter period a year ago, as partly affected by including NIPPEI TOYAMA Corp. as a consolidated subsidiary since March this year.

2. Financial Conditions

As of June 30, 2008, total assets had increased by ¥123.3 billion from the previous fiscal year-end to ¥2,228.4 billion (US$ 21,024 million). This increase mainly reflects increases of inventories and tangible fixed assets resulting from expanded production to meet thriving demand for construction, mining and utility equipment. Interest-bearing debt grew by ¥55.9 billion from the previous fiscal year-end to ¥508.0 billion (US$ 4,793 million). Shareholders' equity totaled ¥956.1 billion (US$ 9,020 million), up ¥68.9 billion from the previous fiscal year-end, resulting from an increase in profits. As a result, shareholders' equity ratio increased by 0.8 percentage points from the previous fiscal year-end, to 42.9%. Net debt-to-equity ratio * was 0.43, compared to 0.39 as of the previous fiscal year-end.

*Net debt-to-equity ratio = (Interest-bearing debt - Cash and cash equivalents - Time deposits)/Shareholders' equity

3. Projection for the Fiscal Year Ending March 31, 2009 (From April 1, 2008 to March 31, 2009)

Concerning the projection for consolidated business results for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2009, Komatsu makes no change in the projection of April 30, 2008 as of the date of this news release.

With respect to the construction, mining and utility equipment business, there are some matters of concern, such as the sluggish demand in Japan and the United States, the economic slowdown in Western Europe, and the increase of prices for raw materials. However, Komatsu projects that demand will remain strong against the backdrop of resource development around the world and infrastructure development, especially in emerging economies. To make further gains in profits in such market conditions, Komatsu is expanding its production capacity particularly for large equipment, while continuing to launch new models and increase prices. In the industrial machinery business, Komatsu anticipates that demand will expand against the backdrop of burgeoning capital investment centering on emerging economies. In this environment, Komatsu is going to aggressively introduce new products, expand overseas business and implement other initiatives. Sales of industrial machinery should expand.

Our projection is based on the assumptions of foreign exchange rates as follows: ¥103 per US$1 and ¥160 per EUR1.

[Projections for the Fiscal Year Ending March 31, 2009]
