ITEM 1.01. Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement.

On June 30, 2016, Amphastar Pharmaceuticals, Inc. (the “Company”) and Actavis Laboratories FL, Inc., formerly known as Watson Laboratories, Inc. – Florida and Andrx Pharmaceuticals, Inc. (“Actavis”), entered into a Seventh Amendment and Termination Agreement (the “Amendment”) with respect to the Distribution Agreement by and between the Company and Actavis dated May 2, 2005, as amended by the First Amendment dated August 15, 2008, the Second Amendment dated February 19, 2013, the Third Amendment dated April 1, 2014, the Fourth Amendment dated January 7, 2015, the Fifth Amendment dated February 4, 2015, and the Sixth Amendment dated March 6, 2015 (as amended, the “Agreement”). The Agreement relates to, among other things, Actavis’ certain exclusive marketing rights for the Company’s enoxaparin product, which generally extend to the U.S. retail pharmacy market. The Agreement was filed as Exhibit 10.7 to the Company’s Annual Report on Form 10-K, filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on March 15, 2016 (incorporated by reference to Exhibit 10.7 to the Company’s Registration Statement on Form S-1 filed with the SEC on May 20, 2014).

The Amendment deletes Section 2.2.3 of the Agreement, which concerns certain non-competition provisions, effective as of the Amendment date. In addition, the Amendment terminates the Agreement upon the earlier of (i) January 1, 2017 and (ii) such earlier date that is thirty days (30) after Actavis notifies the Company in writing that Actavis has less than thirty (30) days inventory of the Product (as defined in the Agreement) remaining in Actavis’ possession or scheduled to be delivered pursuant to the pending purchase orders (collectively, the “Termination Date”). Actavis must use Commercially Reasonable Efforts (as defined in the Agreement) to sell its remaining inventory of the Product.

The Amendment also provides that the Company shall have the right to appoint a new distributor for the Company’s enoxaparin product as of the date of execution, provided that neither the Company nor such new distributor shall distribute, sell or otherwise commercialize the Product in the retail market subject to the Agreement prior to the Termination Date of the Agreement. In the event that the Company or any distributor distributes, sells or otherwise commercializes the Product to Purchaser Customers (as defined in the Agreement) in the markets subject to the Agreement prior to the Termination Date, Actavis may terminate the Agreement upon written notice to the Company and, in addition to any other remedy available in law or in equity, upon such termination, the Company agrees to promptly repurchase all of Actavis’ remaining inventory of the Product at a price equal to the amount paid by Actavis for such inventory. The Amendment also contains certain provisions related to the extension of the Termination Date, allocation of product labelling expenses, and the release of future claims.

The foregoing description of the Amendment does not purport to be complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the Amendment, which is filed as Exhibit 10.1 to this Current Report on Form 8-K and incorporated herein by reference.

No assurance can be given that the Company's efforts to sell its enoxaparin product to the retail market, will be successful.
