DANAHER RESPONSE TO COOPER ANNOUNCEMENT

Washington, D.C., August 8, 2001 - Danaher Corporation (NYSE: DHR) said today it is disappointed that the Board of Directors of Cooper Industries, Inc. (NYSE: CBE) has rejected Danaher's premium merger proposal, which is valued at $55.21 to $59.29 based on yesterday's closing price, or 33% to 43% above Cooper's unaffected market price on July 31, 2001, the day before Danaher announced its proposal.

H. Lawrence Culp, Jr., President and Chief Executive Officer, said, "We are disappointed that Cooper has rejected our premium proposal but encouraged that it has led Cooper to postpone the Bermuda reincorporation plan and to commit to exploring all alternatives to maximize shareholder value. Danaher is committed to our July 25th proposal. We remain hopeful that we will achieve a negotiated transaction with the Cooper Board, but we are preserving all of our options."

On July 25, 2001, Danaher made a proposal to Cooper for a merger through a 75%-stock and 25%-cash transaction in which each Cooper share would be converted into $14.50 in cash and 0.7650 Danaher shares at the high end of the proposed range, or $13.50 in cash and 0.7123 Danaher shares at the low end of the proposed range.

Danaher Corporation is a leading manufacturer of Process/Environmental Controls and Tools and Components. (<http://www.danaher.com>).
