Frequently Asked Questions – Week of October 12, 2009

1. Does Cameron have any Educational Support or Tuition Reimbursement policy for its overseas non-US employees or is it restricted to US Employees only?

Tuition support varies by country. Canada, for example follows the US policy and the UK has an informal reimbursement practice.

2. What is Cameron pay schedule? biweekly? twice monthly? Monthly?

Cameron's employees are paid bi-weekly, and most NATCO locations, including those in Canada the UK and the US will move to the bi-weekly schedule. If a NATCO employee is moving from weekly to bi-weekly, Cameron will provide a one week advance in pay to help bridge to the new schedule. The advance will be paid back to Cameron out of the employee's last paycheck upon retirement or termination. Details of this plan will be provided to those affected.

3. If an employee has a loan on their 401K with JP Morgan, what will happen after the merger? Will the loan be called up to pay out or will it be transferred to Cameron's 401k plan and the employees will be allowed to continue making payments?

The 401(k) loan will be transferred to the new plan and the employee will be allowed to continue making payments.

4. How many hours work per week are considered full time? Part-time?

For most purposes, an employee who works 30 or more hours per week is considered full-time.

5. How does the 3% retirement contribution work – how is it invested?

Cameron contributes 3% of your qualified pay to your 401(k) account on a monthly basis. The funds are invested at your discretion among the 9 investment choices in the plan. You are vested in this plan after 3 years of service, and NATCO service does carry over to Cameron.

6. How will my current 401k investments be mapped into my new Cameron 401k?

The NATCO and Cameron plans will not merge until the first quarter of 2010. The mapping process has not been finalized, but all employees will be given ample notice regarding the process before the 401k plan merger occurs.

7. Does Cameron's 401K plan allow in-service non-hardship withdrawals for employees over the age of 59 1/2?

Yes.

8. I noticed that there is a floating holiday in 2010. Can I take that day whenever I want?

The 2010 floating holiday can be scheduled in advance with an employee's supervisor, much like a vacation day. The scheduled day can be any day within the year that is approved by the supervisor. Some locations may choose to designate a day to use the floating holiday for scheduling purposes. Local management will communicate this if they choose this option.

9. If we need to come to the office during the weekend to finish the work. Do we have access to the office after hours and weekends? How safe is NATCO building. Is there security during the weekends?

Cameron, like NATCO, is committed to the safety of our employees. The NATCO Headquarters building has both electronic security access and security personnel that monitor the site. Through the use of these measures, employees are allowed site access during weekend hours. As employees potentially relocate, they will receive a more detailed overview of the building access and security for the specific facility.
