The following is the text of a memorandum from W. Mark Lortz of TheraSense, Inc., that was sent to all employees of TheraSense, Inc. on February 24, 2004:

To All TheraSense Employees:

Today we took another important step in the process of completing the merger with Abbott with the clearance of antitrust review. The waiting period under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act has expired. Simply put, this means that the Federal Trade Commission and the U.S. Department of Justice have found that the merger of the two companies does not pose antitrust issues.

Please note that completion of this deal remains subject to approval by a majority of TheraSense stockholders and customary closing conditions, including other regulatory approvals. As previously reported, we anticipate closing the deal in the second quarter.

As we continue to move closer to completion of the merger, I will keep you updated on all important milestones. In the meantime, please remain focused on your work. Our future success continues to depend on maintaining strong business momentum.

For those of you who have made inquiries to the Transition Team Help Desk email account set-up in MS Outlook, please know that your inquiries have been received and each of you have received an acknowledgement of your inquiry. With this important step of HSR clearance, we will be preparing an FAQ document related to the inquiries that are appropriate to receive answers.

Many thanks,

Mark
