Amendment to Excess Benefit Agreement

On August 31, 2009, The Timken Company (the "Company") and certain members of management, including the Company's principal financial officer, entered into amendments to their Excess Benefit Agreements. The amendments to the Excess Benefit Agreements provide each such officer with up to two additional years of continuous service for purposes of calculating the officer's non-qualified benefit in the event the member is involuntarily terminated without cause. This summary of the amendment to the Excess Benefit Agreements described above is qualified in its entirety by reference to the form of such amendment attached hereto as Exhibit 10.1 and incorporated herein by reference.

Amendment to Severance Agreement

On August 31, 2009, the Company and certain members of management, including the named executive officers, entered into amendments to their Severance Agreements. The amendments to the Severance Agreements provide that, in the event of a sale of a facility or subsidiary of the Company or the ownership of the Company that is not a change in control under the terms of the Severance Agreements, the member is not entitled to the benefits provided under the Severance Agreement if an offer of employment has been made in connection with the sale. This summary of the amendment to the Severance Agreements described above is qualified in its entirety by reference to the form of such amendment attached hereto as Exhibit 10.2 and incorporated herein by reference.
