Employee FAQ For Use By McAfee Leadership Team

Will McAfee's headquarters remain in operation?

Yes, McAfee's headquarters will remain in operation as planned. McAfee had previously announced new headquarter location which is 1/2 mile away from current location in the same city (Santa Clara, CA). Move is planned for October 1, 2010. This plan remains as previously announced.

What role will McAfee's senior executives take in the new company?

McAfee will be a wholly owned subsidiary of Intel Corporation and it will continue to do business as usual. McAfee's senior management will remain in their roles.

Who will run the McAfee business going forward?

Dave DeWalt will remain the president of the wholly owned subsidiary.

What will happen to the McAfee corporate brand?

McAfee has a very strong and valued corporate brand and we do not expect there to be any changes.

How will the acquisition change the way McAfee will go to market?

It will not change our go to market strategy.

How does this transaction affect the strategic landscape of the security business?

Intel Corporation acquired us as a leading security provider and values our core missions in providing endpoint, network and cloud based security solutions. We have long believed that the future of security is proliferated from silicon to satellite technologies and we expect to continue to be a valued partner to our customers and a leader in the security space.

What will happen to McAfee option restricted stock and other equity compensation?

Subject to certain exceptions, each share of McAfee common stock subject to restricted stock awards, vested restricted stock unit awards and vested performance stock unit awards will be converted into the right to receive $48.

Subject to certain exceptions, options to acquire McAfee common stock, unvested restricted stock units and unvested performance units outstanding immediately prior to the consummation of the merger will be converted into options, restricted stock units and performance units, as applicable, denominated in shares of Intel common stock based on formulas set forth in the merger agreement with terms and conditions that are otherwise the same as those existing immediately prior to the consummation of the merger.

How will McAfee be integrated into Intel Corporation and what is the timeline?

McAfee will be run as a wholly owned subsidiary. The organizational structure will by and large remain unchanged. This transaction is expected to close in a few quarters. Post close, McAfee will operate as a wholly owned subsidiary.

Can you speak to the intended synergies of the transaction? What is the timeframe for achieving synergies?

From a traditional expense standpoint we do not see any operating expense synergies. It is too early to quantify revenue synergies although based on the growth of IP devices, we believe there are many opportunities. McAfee will operate as a stand-alone, wholly owned subsidiary of Intel Corporation. During and post close, McAfee will continue and even strengthen its security focus. As usual, its headcount will be determined by the annual operating plan and quarterly business performance.

If the companies have overlapping offices, will there be consolidation?

It is too early to comment.

Can you talk about changes to McAfee headcount as a result of this transaction?

McAfee will operate as a stand-alone, wholly owned subsidiary of Intel Corporation. During and post close, McAfee will continue and even strengthen its security focus. McAfee headcount will continue to be determined by the annual operating plan and quarterly business performance.

What business units have significant overlap with Intel Corporation?

There is virtually no overlap between Intel Corporation and McAfee's business units.

How does this acquisition affect plans for 401(k) and merit increases?

Our commitment to merit increases effective October 1 remains on track and we are optimistic we will be able to make a 401(k) match before the end of the year.
